

Embry Snippets

Western Mail 16 January 1875

Page 6 of 8 Article: PARIS LETTER

similar case was brought before them they would be obliged to convict without the option of a fine.

ASSAULT.—Joseph Embry was charged with assaulting Arthur Weale Cooper, of Monmouth. Complainant stated that, while sitting quietly in his own house, the defendant, who resides next door, rushed into his house, and struck him a violent blow in the eye without any provocation whatever. Fined 5s and costs.

A SOLDIER ON FURLOUGH.—James Pearce, of Monmouth, a soldier of the Scots Fusiliers Guards, on furlough, surrendered to his bail, charged with having stolen, on the 9th, in the Red-streak Tree Inn, one florin, the money of Stephen labour for several thefts from houses where he had been sent to sweep chimneys.

Gloucester Citizen 08 April 1901

Page 4 of 4 Article: INDEPENDENT LABOUR PARTY.

At Greenwich, Colin Campbell (34), who had obtained assistance from several persons by falsely describing himself as "a hero of Spion Kop and Ladysmith," and against whom there were 18 previous convictions for swindling, was sentenced to nine months' hard labour.

At Monmouth, on Saturday, Octavius Embry (34), an inmate of the Workhouse, was sentenced to two months' imprisonment for attempting to stab another inmate named Harrison with a table knife the previous day.

Cheltenham Chronicle 07 February 1833

Page 4 of 4 Article: POSTS CORNER, THE GREAT PYRAMID, Mountain of art sublime, mysterious pile

On Tuesday, at Warwick, aged 29, Mr. Alfred Fardon, of the firm of Fardon, Gossage, and Fardon, of Stoke Prior Works, near Bromsgrove.—On Friday, very suddenly, Mr. John Embry, of Monnow street, Monmouth, aged 75. He was walking in the street five minutes before he expired.—At the very advanced age of 84, Miss Mary Howe, sister to Miss Howe, of the White Swan Inn, Monmouth.—On the 26th ult. at Pontypool, Anna, wife of the Rev. D. Jones, Curate of Freyethan.—On the 29th ult. Mrs.

TWO men who were riding with him escaped unharmed.

MONMOUTH.

AN OFFENDING PUBLICAN.—At the Monmouth borough police-court on Thursday (before the Mayor, and Messrs. James and Woollett), Lovisa Embry, landlady of the Seven Stars Inn, charged by Superintendent Wheeldon with an infringement of her licence, by keeping her said house open on Sunday, October 19th, for the sale of beer, &c., to persons not being travellers or lodgers, pleaded guilty, and was fined £1 with costs and cautioned.—Thomas Jones, labourer, of the Buckholt, was also charged by Superintendent Wheeldon with being present and drinking in a cider house on the 8th October, at Gaus Farm. Plead guilty; fined 10s. and 6s. 6d. costs.

THE DRINK.—Sarah Embry, wife of Thos. Embry, of Priory Hill, was summoned by Sergeant Drew for drunk and riotous conduct on Sunday night, the 11th inst. Defendant pleaded guilty, and was fined 40s and 10s 10d costs, but in default was committed for one month.

paper, inquires. American papers, please copy.

EMBRY.—News wanted of Albert Embry, of Monmouth, who left home for America February, 1885. Any news would be thankfully received by his father, Abraham Embry, care of Editor, R ywolds's Newspaper. American papers, please copy.

EDGAR.—News wanted of James Alexander and David Edgar, ... Their sister, Mrs.

license suspended.

FEMALE AMUSEMENT.—Sarah Embry, one of the fiercest-looking little women that we have seen for some time, and who was near her confinement, stood charged with having assaulted and beaten Eliza Trower, a girl about 23, who entered the court with an infant in her arms. Defendant, who lived in Nailor's Lane, also appeared with a child in her arms. All witnesses were ordered out of court. The complainant stated that she lived on the lower part of Cinder Hill; as she was going through Inch-lane, by defendant's house on the 13th inst., to the house of Mary Price, defendant and her mother cried after her and accused her of having told Mr. Gunter the christian name of defendant's sister, who, she said, had been stealing Mr. Gunter's peas, and against whom he had obtained a summons, but complainant had never seen Mr. Gunter; the defendant swore at her, sprang up and struck her in the face, tore her clothes, plucked her hair, &c. &c. Defendant's mother, with some six or seven other women assisted in beating complainant, whom they got down.—Mary Price and other witnesses corroborated this testimony, and bore witness to the disgraceful language used on both sides, which, however, is too bad to be published. But these witnesses could not say who struck the first blow. The defendant was fined 5s. and 11s. 6d. costs, or 14 days' imprisonment.—She said she would never pay a penny if her pockets were overflowing with gold, but would go to prison, whither she was accordingly sent. As the complainant was leaving the court, one of the witnesses for the defence, ran after her, and immediately began to "pitch into her," like an experienced pugilist. Cries of "police" were raised, and in a few minutes the pugilist was brought into court in a very confused state as to her apparel. A summons was granted.

pameladeans